

NeoLife Scientists have captured the key to Mother Nature's disease-fighting power

Every day your body deals with all kinds of threats to your good health. Not only are you constantly exposed to colds and flu viruses, but now drug-resistant diseases are making headlines.

How can you boost your immune defenses and live a longer, healthier life? Scientists at NeoLife turned to Mother Nature for the answer. The compounds that cause colors in fruits and vegetables also help prevent cellular damage and disease: These are antioxidants called carotenoids. For the first time ever, this disease-fighting power has been captured in a capsule: NeoLife's CAROTENOID COMPLEX!

Research studies show consuming more carotenoids each day can:

- Boost your immune defenses to protect against colds and flu.
- Deliver powerful antioxidant protection against UV light and toxins like cigarette smoke, that are linked directly to risk for cancer, heart disease, cataracts and macular degeneration of the eye.
- Promote longevity. Research shows that people who consume the most carotenoids live longer.
